Who Needs Level 4?

The answer to your question depends on your situation. Either way you will need to do the age specific module for whatever team you are coaching.

- If you just took the Level 3 Clinic last year you should be good for this year as a Level 3 certification is good for two years.
- If your Level 3 is going to expire this year you can either do a Level 4 Clinic or do the on-line recertification Track 1.
- If you have already taken the Recertification Track 1 and it is going to expire, you can either do a Level 4 Clinic or do the on-line recertification Track 2.
- If you have already taken both the Track 1 and Track 2 and the Track 2 is about to expire you will need to attend a Level 4 Clinic.
- If you are in your 9th year in the Coaching Education Program (Level 1 – one year, Level 2 – one year, Level 3 – two years, Level 3 Track 1 on-line recertification – two years, Level 3 Track 2 on-line recertification – two years: for a total of 8 years) you will need to do Level 4.
- If you currently a Level 3 coach and are coaching a National Bound Tier I Team (Bantam or Midget) you will have to do Level 4.
- If you currently a Level 3 coach and are coaching a National Bound Tier II Midget Team you will have to do Level 4.
